

GERMAN ARMY THROWN BACK TO ROER RIVER

The War
Today...By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

WITH THE WHOLE Allied world rooting hopefully for an early end to the European war it is natural that there should be eager speculation as to when Russia is likely to strike again against the German isthline, thereby putting the big squeeze on Herr Hitler by catching him between two great offensives on his main fronts—unhappy Shicklgruber!

Moscow is, of course, getting set for a fresh attack on these powerful German defenses of which Warsaw has been one of the key positions. There are, however, several reasons why the Red command might be disinclined to rush this great operation.

In the first place we must recognize that the Russians are maintaining a fighting front of maybe a thousand miles—more than that if you count the far northern operations. On their right flank in the Baltic states and East Prussia, and on their left flank in the Balkans and Hungary, they've been waging heavy offensives, and those two campaigns in themselves have been a terrific load to carry.

Moreover—and this is important—it's only now that the great plains of eastern Europe through which the Vistula winds are freezing so that they will once more bear the weight of war machines. The fall rains turn this whole area into a sea of mud which is among the world's worst. Generally by this time the frosts have tightened up the terrain, and by about the middle of December virtually all the rivers will be frozen so that the ice will bear the weight of troops and equipment.

However, apart from the mud and bad weather, it's understandable that the Red command should wait to iron out those two great flanks before making another drive against the German center on the Vistula. Those flanks would constitute a danger to the Red advance in the middle.

Up on the northern flank the Russians still are in process of dealing with some thirty German divisions in Latvia. Those Nazi formations must be eliminated or at least neutralized. But the big show, of course, has been successful and highly profitable Red swing through the northern Balkans and up into Hungary, thereby aiming a battering-ram at the Danubian gateway into

VETS COMING TO URGE PRODUCTION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Twenty-seven enlisted men who saw their artillery ammunition rationed in the front lines have been brought back from western Europe to inspire more production at home.

Gen. Eisenhower sent them as "special emissaries" the War department said today, and told them before they left the combat zone last week to "go back home and tell simply and frankly just what you were up against."

The war department announced a tentative list of cities which the group will visit. Dates have not been set. The cities include:

Salem, Ravenna, Cleveland, Sandusky, Toledo, Springfield and Cincinnati, Ohio.

General 'Ike' Gets a Doll

Nine-year-old Cornelia Stewart of McLean, Va., smilingly displays the doll recently presented to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower by the people of Brittany, France, in gratitude for liberation brought by Allied armies. The general presented the doll to the children of America, and it will go on exhibition at the National History Building of the National Museum in Washington.

War Costs England
733,030 Casualties

One Out of Three Houses Destroyed or Damaged; 136,116 Civilians Die

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Five years of war have cost England 733,030 casualties, 136,116 among civilians. One out of every three houses in Britain has been destroyed or damaged.

These figures are among many in a statistical White Paper released simultaneously in Washington and London today.

The White Paper reported that more than a third of all British men between 14 and 64 are in the armed forces and that nearly half of the country's women between 14 and 59 are in uniform or in industry.

By the end of last year Great Britain lost 11,500,000 gross tons of shipping, two-thirds of the tonnage she had when war broke out in 1939.

Civilian casualties through last Sept. 3 included 572,383 killed. Casualties among the armed forces totaled 363,112 with 176,081 killed. In addition, 29,629 merchant seamen have been killed and 4,173 interned.

War Production The White Paper said Britain herself has produced 70 per cent of all munitions turned out by or supplied to the commonwealth.

722 major warships, over 100,000 aircraft, over 25,000 tanks and nearly 4,000,000 machine guns and sub-machine guns.

Lauding lend-lease aid from the United States and Canada, the White Paper said it permitted men and women to be taken from export production and put in uniform or war plants because cash no longer was required to pay for purchases from those countries.

Reviewing the financial cost of war, the White Paper said governmental expenditures have jumped from $4,000,000,000 in 1938 to $23,900,000,000 in 1943.

It pointed to sharply increased tax rates and heavy borrowing, adding that "although the government has in this way been able to raise the money needed for the prosecution of the war, the economic structure of the country has been far-reaching."

Walter Meub, Executive Of Sheet and Tube, Dies

YOUNGSTOWN, Nov. 28.—Walter E. Meub, 60, vice president in charge of finances for Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., died today in University Hospital, Columbus.

Meub began his steel career with Sheet & Tube in 1909 as a clerk and soon worked his way into the executive offices.

In 1920 he became secretary of the company and was named assistant treasurer in 1922. He was made secretary and treasurer in 1936 and vice president in charge of finances in 1933.

He was a native of Warren.

U. S. Diplomat Dies

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 28.—Bernard E. Husted, Jr., 29, of Toledo, Ohio, third secretary of the American legation here, died today of pneumonia after a five-day illness.

Mr. Husted was born in Toledo, Ohio, and was a member of the U. S. Navy. He was a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy and had served in the U. S. Navy during World War I.

Workers In Salem Plants Hear Vets As Reports Show Sales Lag

With the Sixth War Loan drive a little more than a week old, Salem's purchases are lagging slightly behind the expected schedule, according to figures released by bond officials today.

To date the total sales amount to $137,252, far below the over-all goal of $2,002,200 allotted to Salem.

E Bond sales — marked as the most important item in this drive — have approached the quarter mark, but are still shy by some $30,000 being up to 25 per cent of Salem's quota. To date $78,812.50 in E bond sales have been reported. The Salem quota is $451,500.

War workers in two Salem plants heard stimulating Sixth War Loan drive talk yesterday.

Three Navy Men Speak

Three Navy men—two veterans of this war and another with 33 years of service as a sailor—spoke to employees of the Salem Engineering Co. and Bliss Co., urging them, with plenty of facts to back up their pleas, to purchase that extra $100 bond during this important drive.

Campaign plans call for further appearances in Salem plants tomorrow, Chairman E. M. Stephenson announced today.

Chief Machinist's Mate Robert Laycock, who wears service stripes totaling 34 years service in the Navy, introduced the two battle-scarred servicemen. Laycock, 53, had retired after his years of duty just before Pearl Harbor, but was called back to active duty.

Pfc. Gerald J. Robinson, a Marine with wounds from the campaign on the Marshall Islands in the Pacific, told war workers of the extensive care and treatment he had received since being wounded.

Chief Bureau-boosting mate, Chief Specialist George C. Stump, also recipient of some of the best medical care since he was severely burned aiding a freighter which had caught fire in the Mediterranean, pointed out the value to returning wounded men of those War bond purchases made by civilians back home.

Pfc. Robinson and Specialist Stump explained that the Navy Turn to WOUNDED NAVY, Page 8

$30,000 OBTAINED BY BANK ROBBERS

Employees of Middletown Bank Held Up In Auto, Robbers Escape

MIDDLETOWN, Nov. 28.—Two men robbed two messengers of the Ogden-Barnitz Bank & Trust Co., of $30,000 in cash today and fled, Detective Howard Smith said, with no description of them available.

Smith said the money was in custody of John Erb, teller, and Arthur Miltenberger, custodian of the bank, and that they had turned the automobile into the driveway of the Middletown postoffice, preparatory to parking, when the bandits approached with guns drawn.

The money, in a satchel, was consigned to the Federal Reserve bank at Cincinnati.

Smith said the robbery was accomplished with such precision and dispatch as to indicate a "thoroughly professional job," and that the bandits fled in their automobile before any clues could be obtained.

Two Bell Aircraft Heads Are Killed In Air Crash

DAYTON, Nov. 28.—A small cargo plane crashed on the edge of Wright field last night, killing Carl A. Cover, 51, vice president of the Bell Aircraft Corp., and Max Stupar, 49, Bell industrial planning director.

The twin-engine plane, enroute from Marietta, Ga., to Buffalo, N. Y., smashed to the ground and then sliced into a power line and burst into flame at a curbing near the landing strip. Pilotate "thoroughly professional job," and that the bandits fled in their automobile before any clues could be obtained.

Even Congressmen Get Excited By Fag Sales

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—A restaurant cigar stand in the capitol looked like a bargain basement counter today when word spread that a shipment of cigars had arrived.

The smokers were received a few minutes before the house agriculture committee opened hearings on the nationwide shortage. Among those who crowded around the stand was House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.).

One of the buyers got so excited he handed the girl behind the counter a dime and a quarter in payment for a 15-cent pack. She had to call him back to give him his change.

ELKS MEMORIAL SERVICE SUNDAY

Six Who Died Last Year and Lodge's War Dead To Be Eulogized

Annual memorial day service, honoring departed lodge members and Elks serving their country, will be held at the Elks lodge rooms at 3 p. m. Sunday.

A general invitation to the public has been extended by the lodge. Special significance is embodied in the solemn service again this year, when the local lodge will pay homage not only to six members who have died during the year, but to the 500 Elks who have given their lives battling for this country in the present conflict.

Dr. Alexander Scott, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the benediction and prayer and John Coleman of East Liverpool will sing. Atty. Charles McCormick will give the memorial address and the departed Elks will be eulogized by Atty. W. Edmund Peters.

The six deceased members of the Salem lodge to whom homage will be paid are—Duncan MacDonald, William L. Glass, O. A. Rutter, August E. Mann, F. E. Barrett and Adolph Bohr.

Jap Ship Toll Increased

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Nov. 28.—The toll of Japanese ships sunk or damaged this month in relentless American carrier-plane raids on the Manila area stood at 151 today with upward revision of figures on Friday's strike which bagged 48 ships and 87 airplanes.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, in a communique, added two ships sunk and 23 damaged to the earlier score. The fight for Leyte island slithered to a virtual standstill in the Ormoc corridor's mud as terrific rains fell, but U. S. planes based on the island dropped 235 tons of bombs on Japanese air installations on Cebu and Negros, and at Davao Friday, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique reported.

In the Leyte battle no American advances were reported by Gen. MacArthur, who said also that the storm had retarded air operations over the island Sunday. Four Japanese planes were shot down, in addition to eight bagged on American attacks on other Philippines targets.

In attacks on Cebu, Negros and Mindanao, B-24 Liberators, escorted by Lightning fighters, bombed Japanese air bases, supply areas and bivouacs.

Bargaining Election For Deming Workers Ordered

4,000 Liverpool Voters Disqualified By Board

EAST LIVERPOOL, Nov. 28.—The city's total of registered voters will be reduced 442 to 10,206 Dec. 31 because of non-voting during the last two years, the county board of elections announced today.

This is the lowest number of registration cancellations in 10 years. Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said. He explained the low disqualification total was due to interest in the presidential election, when East Liverpool cast 9,451 votes.

A year ago, 1,586 East Liverpool electors disqualified themselves by not voting during the previous two years, while more than 5,600 names were withdrawn from the precinct registers between 1940 and 1944 presidential elections.

Plan Post-War Employment

Increased Production Is Basis of C. E. D. Program, Manufacturers Are Told

Planning for satisfactory employment by private industry and business through increased production after the war is the objective of the Committee for Economic Development, C. F. Leland of Cincinnati, regional manager, told a group of manufacturers at a dinner meeting in the Lape hotel last night.

The C. E. D., which has no connection with the government but which has its blessing, is a national organization financed by voluntary contributions from private enterprise which seeks to stimulate and assist private employers to begin planning now for the 55,000,000 jobs which must be provided after the war.

To reach this goal, Leland pointed out, employment must be found for nine millions more than the peak employment of 46 millions in 1940, and production must be increased 22 per cent to 140 billion dollars. This the committee believes to be possible if every employer does his part of a large organization headed by the nation's leaders in industry and business.

Leland was presented by G. R. Deming, county chairman of the C. E. D. at a meeting of the Salem Manufacturers association at which President George W. Baillie presided. Manufacturers from Lisbon, Leetonia, Columbiana and East Liverpool were guests of the Salem manufacturers and Deming made plans to form a county organization.

Most of the manufacturers have started post-war plans to take care of returning service men and to keep the wheels of industry rolling when the war is ended. In urging the adoption of the C. E. D. program, they offered to assist other manufacturers and to cooperate in a general plan to provide increased production.

Leland also appeared before the Rotary club at noon today and explained the C. E. D. program.

SAIPAN BASE

Retaliation For Raid On Tokyo Costly for Nips; Ship Loss Raised

SAIPAN, Marianas Islands, Nov. 28.—In an obvious attempt to retaliate for the first B-29 raid upon Tokyo, Japanese fighter planes twice bombed and strafed the Saipan Superfortress base today at a cost of at least 13 Nipponese aircraft.

There was no announcement of American damage.

The first attack was by two or three low-flying airplanes which bombed and strafed Saipan shortly after midnight today. The raid lasted only a couple of minutes.

At noon more than a dozen fighters boldly struck, dropping a few bombs and strafing from as low as 300 feet. Anti-aircraft gunners accounted for at least seven P-38s and P-47s tackled the Japanese planes as soon as they left the anti-aircraft range and brought down six more in running battles extending over several hundred miles to the north, almost to two island in the Volcano group.

Noon Raid Exciting

The early morning attack sent everyone running to rarely used shelters.

The noon raid, with Japanese planes darting about close overhead, was much more exciting. One Japanese plane broke into flames about 100 feet above the ground and skimmed the beach so low that its heat painfully burned some men in foxholes. The plane crashed into the ocean.

Just before another plane struck an unoccupied open area, its pilot bailed out. He drew a gun as soon as he landed and started shooting. A Negro Marine killed him with a carbine.

Newly appointed Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., says a word to reporters at Washington.

STETTINIUS O. K.

General Acclaim Greeted President's Successor To Cordell Hull

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Quick senate confirmation was predicted today for the appointment of Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., as secretary of state.

Speed was indicated not only by the general acclaim which greeted President Roosevelt's chosen successor to Cordell Hull but also by the urgency of pending international problems, headed by the need to complete the Dumbarton Oaks plan for world security.

Chairman Connally (D-Texas) summoned the senate foreign relations committee to meet tomorrow and Vice President Wallace said he is confident "the senate will support the President's choice by confirming him unanimously."

At the state department the 44-year-old Stettinius, who has been acting secretary since Hull entered the Naval hospital at Bethesda, Md., buckled down to the enormous job confronting him in guiding American foreign policy into new fields of international cooperation.

With a Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting indefinitely delayed by the prolonged winter war in Europe, it is likely the President will turn over to Stettinius the job of completing the Dumbarton Oaks plan.

Stettinius himself is anxious to reach agreement with the other big powers on voting procedure in the proposed world security council.

Talking Too Much

If Americans waged war more rationally, less emotionally, there would be less official talking for the sake of hearing the melodic sound of official voices.

In view of what the people now are being told—officially—about the progress of the war, with particular reference to war production, here are some official statements that never should have been made, not including a couple dozen by Selective Service Director Hershey.

That small arms ammunition had been produced at such a tremendous rate that there was enough on hand to take care of all needs.

That the war in Europe would be over by the end of 1944 if home front war production could be maintained at the necessary level.

That home front war production was being maintained at the necessary level; indeed, that it was surpassing the necessary level. (This, it will be remembered, was a theme harped on diligently by the defending side in the national election.)

That home front production was not being maintained at the necessary level; indeed, that Gen. Eisenhower was being embarrassed by a shortage of supplies. (This theme succeeded the campaign theme, starting immediately after the electoral votes had been clinched for a fourth term.)

That reconversion could go forward slowly and cautiously in the near future because WPB was beginning to see daylight on war production.

That reconversion would have to be suspended because WPB was not beginning to see daylight on war production.

These are only samples of a list of handouts which have been taken seriously from time to time because they purported to represent official opinion. It now begins to be plain that the only valid official opinion on the war is the opinion that it will be over when it is over and that it will not be over one minute sooner because of any official statement on the matter. It is not a guessing game, but a grim, bloody, enormously expensive process of wearing down the enemy—and, as usual, the people seem to be more aware of it than their public officials.

Sixty Million Jobs

President Roosevelt's campaign figure of 60,000,000 jobs as full employment in the country after the war has been accepted by CIO as its official estimate. It is probable that the figure will become the popularly accepted total of full employment.

Employment totals are notoriously subject to variation, but they were fluctuating in the neighborhood of 46,000,000 before the beginning of the war, with some estimates running as high as 48,000,000, others running as low as 44,000,000. Thus, it is apparent that the use of 60,000,000 as a standard for the reconversion period, with allowance for the increase in the population, looks forward to a substantial increase over the employment total reached at the peak of peacetime employment during the Roosevelt era.

The question is whether 60,000,000 jobs as an arbitrary estimate might become a handicap as well as a goal, in the sense that inability to attain it would signify failure. A further question arising from the large discrepancies noted in the past between various estimates is whether it is possible to set a definite goal when there is no definite way to measure progress toward the goal.

The social implications of full employment begin to manifest themselves in the light of a goal which would entail the holding of a job by at least one of every two persons in the bracket between voting age and retirement. It becomes obvious that in the naming of a 60,000,000 job standard, it is assumed that many persons who did not expect to be employed before the war are expected to find places in the earning ranks after the war.

If 60,000,000 jobs are to be provided—if that is to become the official aspiration—government would perform an important service in releasing an official prospectus on their probable location and their probable holders.

Mr. Baseball

There aren't many games important enough to support a commissioner to keep their honor bright, which is one more reason for baseball's peculiar status in the United States. It has had Kenesaw Mountain Landis as its presiding officer for the last 24 years.

Commissioner Landis was organized baseball's antidote for the poisonous scandals that almost did for the big league game what dirty work at the crossroads finally did for professional wrestling. He was a symbol of the game's integrity. In action, in appearance and in fact he became the conscience of the national game—a mutually satisfactory arrangement that gave baseball what it needed and obviously gave Judge Landis what he wanted.

His death at the age of 78 takes away a landmark even better known than the indestructible Connie Mack; because Connie, unfortunately, is identified with one club in one league, whereas Judge Landis presided with equal wisdom over the affairs of both major leagues and the National association. There will be, no doubt, a successor to Judge Landis, and no doubt an able one. But there will be no other just like "The Squire." He belongs in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., with the game's other immortals.

Two Crossings of the Rhine

The crossing of the Rhine by Allied troops will mark a turning point in the war with Germany. But, in the wilderness of German morale which no one seems able to penetrate with any certainty, the turning point may be marked by the retreat of German forces preceding the Allied crossing.

The reasons for holding this belief are the importance of the river as a symbolic line of defense, the credo held over from World War I that Germans do not fight well in retreat and, more recently, the belief that the German army shares with the Allied armies a belief that the massive defenses west of the Rhine are to be the field of the decisive battle in western Europe.

While it may be questioned whether the German army facing the Allies in the west would disintegrate under the pressure of general retreat, it cannot be questioned that the fortifications from which the retreat would begin are the last best hope of a strong military defense. Once inside Germany east of the Rhine, conditions would be comparable to those the Allies faced in France after the break-through from Normandy, with the important difference that the enemy no longer would be retreating to a previously fortified position. The Westwall is the key to German defensive strategy.

It is not too soon, therefore, to be aware of the possibility that while the battle of Germany may continue for many months to come, the decision may be gained when the German army, yielding to concerted pressure from Switzerland to the North sea, finally is forced into general retreat.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, November 29.

THE LUNAR transits for this day indicate a surprising or novel turn of events which may be destined to lead to joyous fulfillments in professional, financial, career, labor and all sorts of ideals, ideas and objectives, but with the proviso that prudence, precaution and exceptional cleverness be exercised in the effort to reach cherished goals. There is likely to be some strenuous opposition or quarrels, turbulence and rashness, and as well there are omens of dangers through accidents, machinery and explosions. Keep alert.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year in which lofty ambitions and high hopes and wishes may be attained by ingenuity, skill, innovation as well as the friendly offices of those in power and authority. Cultivate these with courtesy, finesse, and confidence, suppressing tendencies to rash or turbulent acts, and arguments, wrangling and discussions. Finance, labor, enhanced prestige and popularity should reward discretion and caution, the latter in connection with tools, machinery, fire, explosions and all accidents.

A child born on this day should have high ideals and ambitions, with much efficiency to accomplish them. Its tumultuous and rash proclivities might be a damper on personal prestige and popularity.

The Pearl Harbor Investigation

"It is more important now to win the war than it is to find out what happened at Pearl Harbor," said Sen. Alben W. Barkley in objecting to a proposal that a 10-man Senate committee investigate the attack of Dec. 7, 1941.

It might be asked, while agreeing with the senator from Kentucky, if both could not be done at the same time? Does Mr. Barkley mean that the disclosure of what happened could lose the war? Does he fear that the investigation would divert attention and effort from the task at hand, or that the findings would be a serious blow to national morale?

Whatever the answer, it scarcely would compliment the American people who could probably stand up under the full story of the attack as well as they did under its immediate consequences, and as well as they do now in a thickening atmosphere of speculation.

The latest Hitler rumor has it that the Fuehrer has cut off his relatives and willed all his worldly goods to the Nazi party. Meanwhile the Russian and the Allied armies continue their friendly rivalry to see who will be the first to break the will—to say nothing of the heirs.

Children mind the parents who mind the children.

Changes In Ideas About Tuberculosis

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE IDEAS of the medical profession about tuberculosis have changed radically in many important respects during the last 40 years. In the articles which I intend to write this week and next to further the sale of the Christmas seals of the National Tuberculosis Association in their campaign against the disease, a campaign which I have pointed out in previous articles is well on its way to successful eradication of this enemy. I shall discuss three of these changed ideas, viz. (1) we now believe that tuberculosis is a condition of lifelong duration in most instances, acquired in childhood; (2) we now believe the X-ray is the most valuable agent in diagnosis; and (3) the treatment and rehabilitation of tuberculosis patients must be carried out by more active procedures than those formerly used.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Childhood Tuberculosis

To discuss the first of these today let us look at the problem of childhood tuberculosis. Tuberculosis is acquired in the vast majority of cases in childhood. If a person has lived to the age of 20 without having acquired tuberculosis the chances of his getting it are a fraction of one per cent, and then he has to live in an environment filled with it such as being an attendant in a tuberculosis sanitarium.

The child acquires tuberculosis either from infected milk from tuberculous cattle, or from another person. The chances of acquiring it from milk, at least in this country have been reduced to a minimum. In over 90 per cent of cases the child acquires it from another member of its family whom nobody has ever suspected of having tuberculosis.

If there is one thing about which our opinions have not changed one iota in the field of tuberculosis it is that in the early stages and often until the very end it does not force itself on the victim's consciousness. There is no pain, often, indeed, he feels particularly well. All the significant signs are explained on some other basis—the cough is a winter cough or from sinusitis, the underweight is due to the nervous tension personality, "I came from this ancestry," etc., etc. Such a person —the father or mother, older brother or aunt—sits around a family for years and no one even suspects the real condition.

Inspection of Child

In close contact with a child, the child early becomes infected. It is not a pleasant subject to speak or hear about, but it is the best argument for the case-finding campaign

Flower Arrangement School Is Conducted By Mrs. Heller

An all-day school of arrangements was conducted here yesterday by Mrs. Louis Heller, Jr., of Youngstown, authority on flower arrangement, sponsored by the Salem Garden and the Garden Study Club.

The school and meeting were held at the library assembly room. Winners in the arrangement showing were: Best and most varied collection of materials, Mrs. W. H. EVELYN ANKERS: Gives her feet a fling at freedom.

By ALICIA HART

Switching from high to low-heeled shoes and going barefoot wherever privacy and a soft carpet permit are simple tricks of cajoling feet into giving you better support.

Switching high heels with low, when dressy footwear is not required, keeps feet more cheerful when they have to wear stiffs. Pattering about barefooted on a carpeted bathroom or bedroom floor gives feet a fling at freedom that they need.

To encourage arches to give you a springier gait, suggests spirited Evelyn Ankers, "Bovary to Broadway" star, plant bare feet parallel on a new post in the next two weeks.

Leetonia Wife Gets Purple Heart Award

LEETONIA, Nov. 28.—Mrs. June A. Van Pelt, wife of the late Pfc. Gerald R. Brown, has received the Purple Heart awarded posthumously to her husband, who sacrificed his life in defense of his country.

Two Accidents At Same Crossing Fatal To Three

BROWNWOOD, Tex., Nov. 28.—Three men were injured fatally and a fourth was hurt in two accidents within four hours at the same railroad crossing yesterday.

B. A. Youdermilk, 55, a ranchman, died in a hospital after his car and a passenger train collided.

Four hours later, Ed Sheffield, 74, another ranchman, and Will Jackson, 67, were killed in the collision of their automobile and a freight train. J. H. Matthews, a passenger in the car, was injured.

Noted Conductor Tells Of Family's Slaughter

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28.—Pierre Monteux, conductor of the San Francisco symphony orchestra, disclosed today seven members of his immediate family had been slain by the Nazis during their occupation of France.

The noted musician said the information came from his one remaining brother, Andre, and his son-in-law, Simon Barendse, a staff sergeant at supreme headquarters. Allied expeditionary force.

No Market
ITHACA, N. Y.—Collection of milkweed floss by 4-H Club boys and girls of New York State in order to furnish material for life jackets has led to inquiries at the State College of Agriculture whether the weed can be grown as a crop. Prof. W. C. Muenschler replied that it can, but that anyone interested in growing milkweed should first locate a market. Present demand is limited largely to substitution for other products, principally kapok, not now available.

AN AMERICAN AIRBASE IN BELGIUM, Nov. 6. (Delayed)—Trained skill and daring rather than carrots or Hollywood sun glasses have enabled American night fighter pilots in their speedy Black Widow planes to wipe out the front line skies clear of nocturnal German intruders.

Many persons picture these young men who wing through the blackness to knock down the enemy's night raiders and shoot up Nazi trains and supply columns as carefully-screened aviators with catlike vision. They think these men live behind dark goggles like a movie star and eat special vitamin A rich food to help them see better in the dark.

A visit to the airbase from which the most successful night fighter squadron operates cured me of such illusions. Most of what has been written about these men is just plain corn on the cob.

Dark goggles are as scarce as longnoses on this rainy, wind-torn field where shivering men wade to their planes through calf-deep mud that never dries. And if any of these very normal and highly courageous fliers ever get an extra vitamin A on his plate he never recognizes it. They eat regular army chow.

These fliers are distinguished by their "eager beaver" morale and their topsy turvy life. They sleep by day and fight by night.

Since it became operational July 3 in England this outfit—a crack "fighter squadron"—has shot down seven enemy planes, probably destroyed eight more and damaged three. It also has shot down four flying bombs and strafed many trains and transport columns.

"We flew more than 700 missions before losing a man," Capt. Edward S. Page, Jr., of Baltimore, the squadron intelligence officer, said proudly.

The big twin-tailed planes—they look like over-sized P-38s—carry two-man crews—pilot and observer. Because of the nervous strain of night flying, the crews work two nights and take the next two nights off to rest and relax.

"The night fliers' 'day' begins at noon when he crawls out of his sleeping bag for a quick breakfast. At 1300 hours (1 p. m.) all crews report to the briefing room—they call it "the spy shack." There they hear the latest world news and are informed of that night's targets. Then they take up their planes for an hour's flight to test their equipment.

The crews eat at 1630 (4:30) and then report to "the spy shack" for any last minute change in orders. At dusk the planes take off for their nightly patrols.

Waiting their turn to go up, the crews read of play poker interminably beside an iron stove in the bare wooden "spy shack."

After each crew lands the men review their mission results with intelligence officers, and then get hot coffee and eggs in the mess tent.

No bright lights are allowed to shine on the field to disturb the fliers' vision. Before going up, most pilots stand outside for a half hour to accustom their eyes to the darkness.

"I just climb into my plane and sit there alone until the takeoff time," said Lt. Theodore I. Jones, 22, of Millbrook, N. Y., a six-foot-three former pre-med at Williams college, who is one of the best fliers in the squadron.

Sometimes the crews may fly two or even three fatiguing missions over Germany in a single night, cruising ceaselessly for ground targets or enemy planes.

"When you get down from that second mission you are really ready to hit that sack," said Jones.

The crews usually go to bed about 7 a. m. and sleep until noon. That's only five hours, but "we catch up on our nights off duty," said Lt. Paul A. Smith, a pilot of Billings, Mont.

Warm—but not fair!

JOE's got the house too hot by careless firing of the furnace, so he's trying to heat all outdoors by opening the windows. Through wasteful practices, he isn't being fair to his own family—or to other families using coal. He isn't helping America.

This winter it's vital to conserve coal as never before. This isn't because less coal is being produced. Actually, millions more tons are being mined this year than last—by fewer men. Quite a tribute to mine owners and miners alike!

There are adequate facilities for hauling coal to your city. But certain grades and sizes of coal are needed for war production. And, in addition, your local coal dealer is handicapped by a shortage of manpower, trucks and tires. So be patient with him. Order before you're down to your last shovel.

And conserve the coal he is able to deliver to you through firing carefully, closing off unused rooms, pulling down shades at night and through other simple precautions. For other suggestions see your coal dealer.

One of the biggest jobs of the C & O Lines is hauling coal from the mines along its routes, so we're in a position to understand the problem, and to know how essential coal is these days.

Salem High's Basketball Season Opens Week From Tonight

Coach Miller Drilling New Charges In Preparation For Opening Test With Ravenna

For the first time in 14 years, Salem High school is about to enter into a basketball season under the tutelage of a new coach.

Coach Robert J. Miller, former Ohio State star and coach at East Palestine High school, this year is in charge of the Quaker cagers, formerly mentored since 1931 by Herbert Brown, who resigned last summer to accept a chamber of commerce position in Dayton.

Miller, in his third season as a coach, will make his Salem debut one week from today when the Ravens appear on the High school floor to inaugurate the 1944-45 basketball season.

Faced with an always-difficult opponent, Miller is well stocked with veteran and experienced players. Six men, all playing members of the last season Quaker squad, are back in uniform and ready for action.

Because of several circumstances that have hindered varsity workouts so far, the quintet that takes the floor next Tuesday may not be in as well-rounded a playing condition as the coach would desire, but they will have the major points of his system in mind before game time.

Limited in practice time by a large turnout of younger lads, who necessarily had to be coached with a careful eye, the Salem coach will have only this week to work with his top ten men. Some valuable time was lost when three men, all veterans, were out of practice because of injury and sickness yesterday.

However, Miller hopes to have the full squad together today and plans to spend this week working out the finer details of his system with his recruits.

The six returning veterans are: Walt Brian, Norm Smith, Bill Stouffer, Francis Lannan, Jim Appedisan and Mutt Schaeffer. All played in a major portion of the games during the final half of last season and made up—by alternating—the starting group in nearly every game.

The only letterman lost by graduation in 1944 was Frank Entriken, who was not a regular by the time the end of the year rolled around.

Combining these six men with several other likely-looking candidates, Miller will have an experienced, racy and sharp-shooting aggregation after the early season awkwardness and inaccuracy wears off. Miller also has Ray Kelly, Junior football regular, to add to his squad.

SPORT CHATTER

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—One reason why Elmer Layden, pro football's head man, favors a national physical training program based on athletics over a military training program is that athletics will help rehabilitate returning servicemen "in games played under rules." In wartime, he explains, they learn to discard all rules except the rule of self-preservation. He also points out that by building up High school and college athletics so that every boy is a participant and then supplementing this with playground and industry teams, it wouldn't cost the taxpayers so much. And the important part is to have our young men physically able to serve when they're needed.

WORDS OF THE WISE

Earl Ruby, Louisville Courier-Journal sports editor, nominates Tennessee's John Barnhill as the coach of the year with all at the Rose Bowl in one year, says Ruby. "A year ago he was teaching calisthenics to ASTP students. Today he is teaching his Vols new tricks for those U.S.C. Trojans."

WRONG DIRECTION

Lieut. Joe Maniaci of the Bainbridge Navy Commodore tells this one about a golf game with Jimmy Demaret, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby when he visited the West Coast with the Chicago Bears. On the first hole, Hope asked his caddy the distance, teed up his ball and proceeded to slice it a mile out of bounds. On the second he again asked, then hooked beyond the boundary. Each time Bob decided there wasn't any use playing out the hole after such a bad start. On the third tee, Hope again asked his caddy how far it was to the cup. "Mistake Hope," replied the youngster, "You don't want to know how long this hole is; you want to know how wide."

CLEANING THE CUFF

Ralph Daughton, president of the Piedmont league, was elected to congress this year. Now baseball men are wondering if he can be president and congressman at the same time.

GOLFING BIGWIGS FIGURING ON PGA TOURNEY FOR KIDS

Says It's Up To Golfers Over Country To Give The Idea Push

(By Associated Press) PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 28.—The men who make golf a business foresee a tremendous postwar boom in the sport. And they're preparing for it, too. Not only from the standpoint of sale of equipment, tutoring of new players and construction of courses, but also in a long range way.

This idea, backed by the Professional golfers association, is to have a national tournament for boys under 18 years of age. Fred Corcoran of Boston, tournament bureau manager of the P. G. A., is responsible for the plan. But the trouble is that the P. G. A. has no jurisdiction; it's up to the United States Golf association.

Up To Golfers

Practically every state golf association affiliated with the U. S. G. A. sponsors junior tournaments within its province but there never has been one of national scope.

Corcoran's proposition is to found a national championship. His idea is to have the various U. S. G. A. branch associations hold their sectional championships as usual, then send their kid champs to a national event.

Golfers, themselves, are the ones who can put this over. His scheme: Get busy now and send word to the U. S. G. A. at New York headquarters to foster a national tournament for the juniors. The youngsters are the backbone of the sport, the more in it the bigger it will grow.

In the meantime the pros will be using their influence to put the plan across.

FOOTBALL DINNER TICKETS ON SALE

Tickets for the annual Salem High school football banquet Monday, Dec. 11, sponsored by the Salem Boosters club, went on sale yesterday to members of the club. Alvin "Bo" McMillin, head coach at Indiana University, is to be the speaker.

Members only are allowed ticket purchases this week. Should any of the 260 ducats be unsold by Monday the sale will be open to the general public. Forty football players are to be guests of the club and accommodations for 250 others are available at the Memorial building.

Tickets can be purchased from Art Brian, Joe Kelley, Marty Polder, Wilbur Vignon, Don Beattie, Harold Parker and Jim Primm.

CLASS B SCHOOLS HAVE NEW TOURNEY RULES THIS YEAR

Revert Last Year's Rules To Ones Used In 1942-43 At Board Session

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, Nov. 27.—The High School Athletic association has revised rules for Class B basketball tournaments along the lines of regulations of 1942 and 1943, it was disclosed today.

Under rules in effect last year, schools not invited to play in county tournaments moved directly to district meets and were put in separate brackets in the pairings.

There will be no separate brackets this year, but the board granted any district the right to alter regulations locally to take care of any situation. They might, for instance, set up a separate tournament for the district and then put the winner in the district. H. W. Emswiler, athletic commissioner, said.

Pick "E" Sites

The board, meeting here Saturday, picked Springfield for the 1945 Class B tournament, and will select a site for the A tourney within a week or two.

A group of men from Springfield urged that a proposed memorial to the late H. W. Townsend, former commissioner, be erected there. No decision was reached.

The board admitted three new members to the association: St. Vincent De Paul of Mt. Vernon, Rosary of Columbus and Madonna of Cincinnati.

SCHOLASTIC CAGE TOURNEY CHANGED

COLUMBUS, Nov. 28.—The University of Toledo fieldhouse, seating 8,500, will be the scene of Ohio's Class A High school basketball tournament next spring, if satisfactory rental arrangements can be made, reports Harold M. Emswiler, state high school athletic association commissioner.

RED GRANGE MADE PRESIDENT OF NEW UNITED GRID LOOP

Making Plans Already For Post War World Series: Loop Has 8 Teams

(By Associated Press) CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Harold (Red) Grange, who hasn't been out of touch with football since his heyday as the "Galloping Ghost" of the University of Illinois gridiron, had another football job today and with it he envisioned a possible "gridiron world series" for the postwar era.

Grange yesterday was elected president of the newly organized United States football league. Today he was making plans for the day when champions of the various post-for-pay leagues can get together in post-season games to determine the World champion.

"I see no reason why there cannot be two, three or even four leagues over the country of major caliber, and I feel confident such a post-season series would be a big boon to the game," he said in an interview.

With final organization of the United States league, there now are three circuits located in the Midwest and East—the long-established National Football league, the All-America conference, and the loop headed by Grange. The latter two expect to begin operation next year.

Eight Teams In

Eight cities—including Honolulu—were granted franchises in the United States league yesterday, and four more are expected to be added before the 1945 season, Grange said. They are: Chicago, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, New York, Akron, O., and Boston.

"We will hold a meeting in Akron Dec. 8 and 9 to work out final details of operation," Grange said. "We want to work out a draft system, for one thing, Honolulu, of course, will have to keep its team in this country for the duration, and probably will operate in Cincinnati until transportation can be arranged."

Grange said the league had been incorporated under Illinois laws, and would have its headquarters here. Each franchise holder put up a $10,000 guarantee.

department had spent an estimated $25,000 in healing and treating their wounds.

Pfc. Robinson, who was blasted by a hand grenade which exploded by his left elbow in battle, had part of his elbow blown away and received severe shrapnel wounds to his left leg and side. To top that off, he was struck by a .51 calibre machine gun bullet in the right arm as he tried to dodge further injury.

The Navy brought him home and administered 160 shots of penicillin before his recovery was effected.

His mate, Specialist Stumpf, received second and third degree burns over 70 per cent of his body while rescuing other seamen trapped on the burning freighter.

Nearly given up for dead, Stumpf was returned to America, treated with 168 shots of penicillin, 32 blood plasma injections and had eight blood transfusions to his jugular vein before his recovery was even thought possible.

"All this," these men told the workers, "goes to prove just what these War bonds you are buying now and must continue to buy are doing for our soldiers and sailors the world over."

Pfc. Robinson has received, besides the Purple Heart medal, a Presidential unit citation ribbon, and service ribbons from the Asiatic-Pacific war zones. He is now stationed at the Great Lakes Naval hospital.

The three men are devoting their entire time this month to the furtherance of the Sixth War Loan drive.

The War Today

Austria. The importance of that drive can't be over emphasized.

The Red army stands at the gates of the Hungarian capital of Budapest astride the Danube, Moscow reports today that the heavy snow, followed by a bad sleet storm, has slowed the Red attack but the fact remains that Budapest is in a precarious position.

The fall of this great rail and river center, which is a distribution hub for southeastern Europe, will open the route to the neighboring Austrian border. It will make invasion of Austria possible, thereby creating another terrible threat to the heart of Germany. Moreover, as this column pointed out long ago, there's a strong revolutionary element in Austria which might rise against the Nazis with the arrival of Red troops. This drive into Hungary also is giving the Russians a chance to extend their operations into Slovakia to the north, thereby removing further threats to their left flank.

So we finally arrive at the conclusion that the Hungarian drive offers prizes which Moscow seems bound to develop. A quick surge of the Red army into Austria would put tremendous additional pressure on the Germans, quite apart from a Vistula drive. Thus it's reasonable to assume that the opening of a new Red offensive against the Vistula defenses must depend in considerable degree on the state of this operation, and on the position in the Baltic.

Death Toll Mounts In RAF Dump Blast

BURTON-ON-TRENT, England, Nov. 28.—Estimates of the death toll in yesterday's explosion of an RAF underground bomb dump still ranged from 20 to more than 250 today. A former British army officer declared "enough bombs for hundreds of major raids on Germany" were detonated in the blast.

Scores of persons "simply have disappeared and until we can check up on them we are unable to say whether they are dead or alive," a Burton policeman said. The British Press association said the toll might mount to 250 or more.

One bomb burst and the rush of air apparently acted as a detonator for all the bombs in the dump, situated near Burton. This detonating wave underground caused the earthquake effect felt several miles away, driving many persons to air raid shelters.

Officer's Body Found After Strange Absence

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Nov. 28.—Search for Navy Lt. William K. Trille, 38, mysteriously missing from his Liberty ship for 10 days, has ended with the discovery of his body floating under a pier in the harbor.

Trille, commander of a gun crew, disappeared from his ship Nov. 18 and investigators found a knife and blood stains in his cabin. His widow, Maureen, formerly of St. Paul, Minn., said he was acting strangely the morning before he was reported missing and "drove like wild" from their home to the ship.

State Chief Calls For Postwar Plans

COLUMBUS, Nov. 28.—Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming, administrator of the federal public works agency, today appealed to state and local governments to speed planning of post-war public works projects "so that if we are confronted with large-scale unemployment" at the end of the conflict in the Pacific the projects can be put into operation at once.

In an address prepared for the 54th annual session of the Ohio Welfare conference, Fleming said: "Actually, two-thirds of all the completed plans are accounted for by only five states—California, Illinois, Michigan, New York and Ohio. A third of all completed plans have been accounted for by five cities—New York, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Chicago and Detroit."

"But before you cheer too loudly over the forecast of Ohio," he asserted, "you should know that your cities, counties and special districts have completed plans for only $67,000,000 worth of construction. Check that against the possible need."

Street Car Workers Quit As Vote Favors Pierlot

BRUSSELS, Nov. 28.—British tanks and steel-helmeted troops guard the Belgian parliament today as the chamber of deputies gave Premier Hubert Pierlot a vote of confidence.

Street car workers had struck several hours earlier, demanding resignation of the Pierlot government, and columns of marchers were reported converging on the tense capital to join in a "national day of protest" tomorrow against Pierlot's regime.

Emeny Brothers Purchase South Broadway Property

The Cleveland Trust Co. has sold the 51st block at 182-184 South Broadway to George B. Emeny of Salem, and Dr. Brooks Emeny and Frederick L. Emeny of Cleveland, for investment and they have taken possession.

The three story brick structure has a frontage on Broadway of 40 ft. with a depth of 110 ft. It was last occupied by Skorman's store.

The purchasers expect to remodel the property for commercial purposes.

The sale was made by R. M. Atchison, real estate broker.

Conscription Issue Flares In Canada

OTTAWA, Nov. 28.—The house of commons was called into secret session today in a dominion-splitting conscription issue following a declaration by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King that lack of a "reasonable" unity on the question might lead to anarchy in Canada.

The 69-year-old premier told parliament last night he would resign if he did not get strong support in a vote of confidence to be taken later in the week. He insisted this support must include members of his own badly-split Liberal party.

He appealed especially to the wavering French-speaking members of Quebec, who reflect the nationalistic province's opposition to conscription for overseas service. He called for an end of racial divergences which have been a bar to complete Canadian unity since the Dominion's earliest history.

Even as King spoke, these differences broke into anti-conscription demonstrations.

About 100 home defense troops—conscripted for service in this hemisphere and now under the government's new policy liable to be sent overseas—organized an anti-conscription parade and began a march on parliament, but were dispersed.

In Montreal, in the heart of French-Canada, about 700 young men paraded last night and stood silently in the city's main square as a token of their opposition to conscription.

Labor Union Subject To Law Regulations, Ruling
TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 28.—The Florida supreme court ruled today that labor organizations "so vitally affect the public they may be regulated by law like other organizations, and labor union business agents may be regulated in their conduct like insurance agents, real estate brokers and others."

The unanimous decision upheld a 1943 legislative act requiring union business agents to obtain licenses from the state and requiring unions to make reports showing their name, location, and name and address of their officers.

This is essential if a United Nations conference to set up the organization is to be held early next year.

If and when such a conference approves the proposal it will be up to Stettinius, working with the President, to help put it through the senate. The friendly relations he has had with congress during his years as lend-lease administrator and under secretary of state, are expected to be a valuable asset.

Other Nations Pleased
British and Russian quarters expressed regret today at the resignation of Secretary Hull, but were pleased with nomination of Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., as his successor.

The French press devoted only two-inch items to the U. S. state department turnover and did not comment. But this reflected the general feeling that American policy toward France was stabilized, with admission of France to the European advisory commission, rather than lack of interest.

The Japanese pictured Hull's action as due to trouble in the Roosevelt cabinet. The Germans, describing Hull as "the most furious of warmongers," declared his resignation "does not signify any change in American policy."

Argentine officialdom maintained strict silence on the change. From Chile came praise for Hull's good neighbor policy.

The Russians regarded the resignation of Hull as the loss of a good friend but considered they have gained a good new one in Stettinius.

The Yorkshire Post said Hull's resignation would cause "sharp regret in Britain as well as in the United States" but that the appointment of Stettinius was a "reassuring and auspicious choice."
